Overview

Housing & Residential Life at California State University, Long Beach (CSULB) is focused on providing on- and off-campus residences along with community-based programs for students. With a concentration in fostering academic success, personal growth and an inclusive and diverse environment, the department offers a variety of living options that cater to diverse student needs and goals.

Housing Options

CSULB's on-campus housing opportunities accommodate more than 3,000 students across multiple residential communities, which include:

- Traditional Residence Halls: Primarily for first-year students, these halls offer shared and private rooms with communal living spaces and study lounges.
- Suite Style Housing: Providing a more independent living experience, suite-style housing provides shared bedrooms, common living lounges and semi-private restrooms.
- Thematic Living Housing: Communities centered on students with common interests, goals, culture and academic excellence.
- Apartment-Style Living: Reserved for upperclassmen and graduate students, these units provide full kitchens and private bedrooms and bathrooms.

Programs & Services

Housing & Residential Life at CSULB offers a range of programs designed to enhance student engagement and well-being, including:

- Resident Assistant (RA) Programs: Student leaders who provide peer support, host events and promote a positive residential experience for their community.
- Living-Learning Communities: Students engage with peers with similar academic, personal or cultural interests.
- Wellness and Safety Initiatives: Programs that promote mental health, diversity, inclusion and campus safety.
- Academic Resources: Tutoring center, study lessons and staff in residence to support student learning
